This mill specialises in organic flour and gluten free flour. The mills and bakeries are separate for each product range so there is no risk of contamination across the two ranges. They have operated since 1978 and have an excellent product range. Doves Farm flours are available in many Supermarkets and Health Food shops across the UK.

Doves farm not only provide an exceptional range of flour products, they also have a range of baking products. The farm is fully organic and is wildlife friendly, having a systematic field rotation system which helps to maintain the quality of the land. The mills have a variety of stones, rollers and other processing equipment to produce flour in a variety of ways to ensure quality of the product for each type of grain.

When I am making specialist breads I often use Doves Farm flour. The advantage of these products is that I can nip down to the local shops or I can order on line if I want a rare variety of flour that they produce.
