Windmills

The Union Mill

The Union Mill, north of Cranbrook, Kent, TN17 3AH
+44 (0) 1580 712256

Cranbrook Windmill is a very tall smock mill. It was built in 1814. In 1840 the wooden gears were replaced with iron fittings and in 1863 a steam engine was installed to drive 3 millstones at the base of the mill. By 1912 the mill was used for animal feed only. The Cranbrook Windmill Association was formed to run the mill in 1982 on behalf of Kent County Council.

http://unionmill.org.uk/

The mill is open to visitors in the afternoons on most weekends, check with the website before visiting to ensure that it is an open day. There are usually special events throughout the year. Flour milled at the site is available from the mill shop on open days.

Flour is only available to visitors on open days. It is typically stoneground wholemeal wheat flour and matches the quality from any other mill of this type.